BATH: A WORLD HERITAGE SITE

Recognised as one of the most beautiful cities in the world, Bath is the only city in Britain to enjoy UNESCO World Heritage status. Bath is the perfect location for your wedding or civil partnership and, with its stylish combination of beautiful architecture, breath-taking scenery and luxurious accommodation, it will sweep you and your guests off your feet.

Built around Britain's only hot springs, Bath gained its greatest importance first in Roman and then again in Georgian times. Today, the city reflects two thousand years of continuous habitation, with the spectacular medieval Abbey soaring above the 2,000 year-old Roman Baths and elegant Georgian Pump Room.

Bath's Historic Venues are integral to the history of the city and include some of the country's most iconic buildings. They provide a truly unique backdrop to your wedding day. When you hold your wedding or civil partnership with us, you are not limited to using only one venue – you are able to combine different rooms so that you can sample the finest locations in the city.

The city is culturally rich, with the nationally renowned Theatre Royal close at hand. Numerous festivals take place throughout the year celebrating everything from music, comedy and food to children's literature and Jane Austen.

Come to Bath and luxuriate in the natural hot springs at Thermae Bath Spa or indulge yourself in the city's abundant boutique shops. If you are interested in sport, why not catch a game at Bath Rugby, explore the delightful cycle routes into the Somerset countryside or spend a day at Bath races?

When you also consider its convenient location and easy access to the rest of the UK, we hope you'll agree that Bath really is the perfect destination for your wedding day.

OUR VENUES

Dave Saunders

For something a little different, why not exchange your vows beside your favourite painting at the Victoria Art Gallery?

Our venues are in close proximity to one another in the centre of this stunning city. We are lucky to have with numerous beautiful outdoor spaces nearby including Parade Gardens, and Royal Victoria Park, with views of the historic city that include Pulteney Bridge, the Royal Crescent and the Circus: perfect locations for stunning photographs on your wedding day.

A successful wedding with us is not weather-dependant. Rain at the Roman Baths simply adds to its unique atmosphere. The hot water creates more steam when the weather is cold outside. At the Assembly Rooms, there are ample opportunities for beautiful indoor photographs under the crystal chandeliers or from the musicians' balconies.

Be part of the history and hold your wedding in one of Bath's historic buildings.

What could be more romantic than a torch-lit ceremony alongside the steaming waters of the Roman Baths? Alternatively, the Great Octagon in the Assembly Rooms is undoubtedly one of the most elegant settings for a wedding in the country. Add a touch of Georgian splendour with a reception in the beautiful Assembly Rooms, Pump Room or Guildhall Banqueting Room and your day will be truly unforgettable.

ASSEMBLY ROOMS

The Assembly Rooms is one of Bath's most prestigious venues and has been at the heart of the city's social life since the 18th century. There are four rooms on the ground floor, designed for large assemblies and therefore perfect for weddings and civil partnerships. Guests can move seamlessly, behind closed doors, from room to room throughout the day. There is a small formal garden, well suited to drinks receptions, and the world-renowned Fashion Museum, located on the lower ground floor can also be privately hired,

ROMAN BATHS & PUMP ROOM

Situated at the heart of the World Heritage Site, the Roman Baths and Pump Room is without doubt one of the most distinctive buildings in the country. The Roman Baths, steeped in history, with its origins dating back 2000 years, is a truly magical setting that will delight and fascinate your guests. Upstairs in the Pump Room, there is a choice of rooms, and the venue can therefore cater for intimate groups as well as much larger wedding parties for up to 200 guests.

Choose a selection of rooms to suit you

People are different and, naturally, so are their preferences for their wedding day. While some choose a lavish wedding breakfast, others may prefer an intimate laid back soiree or something fun starting bright and early in the morning. Our philosophy is whatever style or size of wedding you choose, we will work with your individual wishes to create your perfect day.

Our four venues are all within walking distance of one another, allowing you to choose a combination of rooms if you simply like the best of everything that Bath has to offer. Here are just a few examples:

“...WE REALLY CANNOT SPEAK HIGHLY ENOUGH OF EVERYONE WE HAVE SPOKEN TO OR MET DURING THE ENTIRE PROCESS. OUR WEDDING DAY TRULY HAS BEEN THE HAPPIEST DAY OF OUR LIVES...”

Duncan Bradshaw

UNDER THE CHANDELIERS

For weddings with 60 to over 300 guests, you could hold your ceremony and wedding breakfast in the beautiful Georgian Assembly Rooms. Why not then jump on a vintage London bus for a grand tour of the city before being dropped off at the Roman Baths, for a sparkling drinks reception around the Great Bath, and a lavish party in the Pump Room?

FOR ART LOVERS

Why not exchange your vows surrounded by magnificent art at the Victoria Art Gallery? Follow this with a sparkling drinks reception and then stroll the short distance to the Pump Room or Guildhall for a seated dinner or party.

Alternatively, for up to 35 guests, you could enjoy an intimate celebration at the Roman Baths Kitchen restaurant.

HEART OF THE CITY

Another option for the larger wedding or civil partnership, is to begin your day in the Guildhall. Following your ceremony in the Register Office or Brunswick Room, simply climb the sweeping grand staircase to the splendid Georgian Banqueting Room for drinks and a wedding breakfast. Alternatively, there are a number of beautiful churches nearby for a ceremony, including Bath Abbey and St. John's.

A short stroll away are the lovely Parade Gardens, which offer fine views of Pulteney Bridge and the weir – perfect for wedding photographs. Alternatively, following your ceremony, you could choose a traditional afternoon tea in the Banqueting Room before crossing the road to the Roman Baths for drinks and an evening party.

THE SMALLER WEDDING

For the more intimate occasion, Sunrise Weddings around the Great Bath are Bath's best kept secret, suitable for just the bride and groom or a much larger group. Following the 8.30am ceremony and photographs, you can enjoy a Champagne breakfast in the elegant Pump Room above.

Alternatively, the intimate Kingston Room and Drawing Room overlook Bath Abbey and are well suited to a daytime ceremony and drinks.

For parties of 40 or less, you could enjoy the atmosphere of the Roman Baths museum by exchanging your vows at 7.30pm beneath the magnificent Roman Temple Pediment. The Guildhall's Russell Room and Mayor's Parlour also offer sumptuous and intimate spaces for wedding ceremonies.

HERE TO HELP YOU

With extensive experience of holding and organising weddings, we offer hands-on professional expertise to guide you through the most suitable venue options to match your vision of the day. We are passionate about the buildings we look after and feedback from our clients frequently praises the enthusiasm and professionalism of our staff.

We will work closely with you and your wedding suppliers in the time leading up to your wedding to ensure that nothing is left to chance. On the day itself, a dedicated Function Manager will ensure that your wedding runs seamlessly and that you have a relaxed and delightful time. We can also provide those little extras for you at no extra charge, such as an easel to display your seating plan, a PA for speeches, and even witnesses for your ceremony if required.

DON'T FORGET...

...your Registrar. If you are holding your wedding ceremony in one of our venues, it is your responsibility to book a Registrar to perform your ceremony. Please contact Bath Register Office on 01225 477234.

ASSEMBLY ROOMS

With its original 18th century Whitefriars crystal chandeliers, high ceilings and portraits by Gainsborough and Ramsey, the Grade I Listed Assembly Rooms make a stylish and truly historical setting for a wedding or civil partnership.

The Assembly Rooms consist of four splendid rooms, the Great Octagon, Tea Room, Ball Room and Card Room. In addition to these magnificent spaces, there is a small formal garden well suited to summer drinks receptions and wedding photographs.

On your wedding day, the bridal car can drive onto the forecourt outside the main entrance so that you can make an impressive arrival and walk straight down the red carpet to your chosen room.

Royal Victoria Park, The Circus and The Royal Crescent are just a short walk away and give you a choice of breath-taking backdrops for wedding photographs.

A VIBRANT HISTORY

Designed by John Wood the Younger in 1769 for entertainment, tea drinking and dancing, the Assembly Rooms were at the heart of fashionable Georgian society. When completed in 1771, they were described as 'the most noble and elegant of any in the kingdom'. Guests would gather in the rooms in the evening for balls, concerts and other social functions, or simply to play cards and socialise.

Scenes such as this feature in the novels of Jane Austen, who lived in Bath with her parents and sister from 1801 to 1805. Her two novels set in Bath, Northanger Abbey and Persuasion, both mention the Assembly Rooms, which she called the "Upper Rooms".

Charles Dickens visited Bath on several occasions. He gave public readings in the Assembly Rooms and mentions them in the Pickwick Papers (published in 1837): "In the ball-room, the long card-room, the octagonal card-room, the staircases, and the passages, the hum of many voices, and the sound of many feet, were perfectly bewildering. Dresses rustled, feathers waved, lights shone, and jewels sparkled".

Adaptations of several novels have been filmed in the Assembly Rooms, in addition to films such as The Duchess (2008) with Keira Knightley and Ralph Fiennes.

ROMAN BATHS AND PUMP ROOM

From the first century AD to the twenty first century, people have been drawn to this place for entertainment and relaxation.

What remains today is a remarkable sequence of ancient, medieval and later structures that give testimony to the continuous use of hot water here over nearly 2000 years.

deities Sulis and Minerva, the latter being their own goddess of healing. The hot baths, which yield around 1,200,000 litres of water daily at 46°C, were in use between the 1st and 4th centuries.

The first Pump Room was built in 1706 and the improved, current structure was built in 1795 by Thomas Baldwin and John Palmer.

In 1878, the city surveyor architect Major Charles Davis, worried by a leak in the King's Bath, decided to explore the ground around it. In doing so he found Roman remains and by 1880 had uncovered large parts of the Great Bath. The Reception Hall and Terrace were completed in the late 19th century, providing the city with a monument for which it is now famed throughout the world.

A VIBRANT HISTORY

The story of the hot springs in Bath began thousands of years ago. Rain on the Mendip Hills was driven deep underground before rising, hot and bubbling, to the surface, warmed by the heat of the earth's core. The site of this extraordinary phenomenon prompted the Celts to adopt the spring as the home of their goddess Sulis. Following the Roman invasion of Britain, the Romans built a grand religious spa complex on this site in c.75AD, which they dedicated to the

GREAT BATH

What could be more romantic and impressive than exchanging your vows amid the flickering torchlight and rising steam from the waters of the Great Bath? Sunrise Weddings can be followed by a wedding breakfast in the Georgian Pump Room or Roman Baths Kitchen. Or in the evenings, after a Sunset Wedding, you can choose to have your reception in either the Pump Room or Terrace and Reception Hall.

Alternatively, the Great Bath can be hired for an evening drinks reception prior to dinner. Guests can gather on the 2000 year old paving and enjoy drinks and delicious canapés, whilst enjoying the historic setting.

In July and August, when the Great Bath is unavailable for private events, an inspiring alternative for your pre-dinner ceremony or drinks reception is the nearby Victoria Art Gallery.

Ceremonies at 8.30am or 7.30pm. Drinks receptions from 7pm. Evening events available September to June.

A VIBRANT HISTORY

The Romans originally roofed this area of their spa buildings first with a wooden structure and then with an enormous barrel-vaulted tiled roof. Today the Great Bath is open to the sky and surrounded by a 19th century Italianate colonnade.

SUNRISE WEDDINGS

Whether you would like an intimate wedding for two, or a much larger ceremony, a Sunrise Wedding will provide a truly romantic start to your special day. It is perfect for the smaller celebration or for couples wanting something a little less formal and unique.

Your ceremony will take place around the Great Bath at 8.30am and the exact position can be decided by you. There are plenty of opportunities for photographs in this stunning location, with the option to follow the ceremony with a Champagne breakfast in the grand Pump Room restaurant or at the Roman Baths Kitchen just across the churchyard.

The party could also return in the evening for dinner on the Terrace overlooking the Great Bath.

GUILDHALL

The Guildhall is conveniently situated in the heart of the city near the Pump Room and Roman Baths. An impressive setting for a ceremony and reception, the Georgian interiors and grand staircases make a magnificent backdrop for a wedding party.

At the Guildhall, couples are free to choose their own caterer. This is extremely unusual for a venue of this quality and further details can be found on our website: www.bathvenues.co.uk

A short stroll away is the beautifully kept Parade Gardens which overlook the River Avon and Pulteney Bridge. These gardens are a lovely choice for wedding photographs if the weather is fine.

A VIBRANT HISTORY

Built by Thomas Baldwin in 1775, this beautiful building replaced a Stuart building built in 1625. The Stuart building and the Georgian one after it were the centre of Bath's administrative and judicial life for more than 350 years, as well as a venue for corporation celebrations, balls, plays, and other events. This tradition continues to this day, although civic hospitality is on a more modest scale and many of the functions of the modern Council take place in other buildings. The Register Office, Mayor's Parlour and City Archives are still housed here.

In 1893 the central dome was added to Baldwin's building by J.M. Brydon, who added the Victoria Art Gallery soon afterwards.

Due to the outstanding architecture inside and out, the Guildhall was granted a Grade I listing status and with its imposing façade it is a masterpiece of the neo-classical style.
